Among the horrible incidents of the Chatswo. h disaster the following are narrat 1:

On the upper floor a handsome woman, about twenty years of age, stylishly dressed, lay extended on a couch. She was Miss Hattle Brenner, of Farmington, Ill., and was on her way to Niagara Falls with several relatives. In the party was a young man named Walters, also of Farmington, and to whom she was engaged to be married. He had been badly injured, and lay near her on a bed, attended by a couple of surgeons. While Miss Brenner was physically unhurt by the wreek, yet the fright and knowledge of her lover's injuries has rendered her insane.

In the depot at Chatsworth and in the unoccupied store used as a morgue, stretched out on the floors, in different directions, were the corpses of men, women and children, dressed in the clothing in which they had met their death. In the empty store, in a room 20 feet wide and 40 feet long, were counted twenty-seven corpses at one time. Their clothing was torn and disheveled, and their stiffened hands and arms, in the majority of instances, were crossed over their breasts. The heads of the dead were generally mangled in the most frightful manner, and were always covered by some article of clothing. The face of a young woman who was lying on the floor of the depot had been so beaten in by the cruel car timbers that recognition was entirely out of the question, and her brains and the flesh of her face were a pulpy mass, in which dabbled her long, red hair. She was not identified. A man with a heavy, dark moustache, and who was apparently about thirty-five years of age, had been struck in the lace by some substance which had torn away his jaw and the side of his face, leaving the throat and the lower part of his face exposed.

A five-year-old boy, with a chubby face and

and the lower part of his face exposed.

A five-year-old boy, with a chubby face and carly hair, looked contented and smiling. His legs were not alone broken, but the flesh was so mangled that it bore the appearance of raw beef. His chest was crushed in, and his little body was covered with bruises. covered with bruises.

overed with braises.

Nearly every corpse was mangled or disfigured.

The faces of some of the dead were black, as though they had died from suffocation, while others were a deadly white.

Tennyson's "May Queen."

Who knows but if the beautiful girl who died so young had been blessed with Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription" she might have reigned on many another bright May-day. The "Favorite Prescription" is a certain cure for all those disorders to which Alexandria Gazette.

The GAZETTE is now the oldest paper :: the State, and with few exceptions the oldest in the country, and its usefulness has been demonstrated and appreciated during the EIGHTY-SEVEN YEARS of its existence. In its columns has always been found a mirror of passing events, and the careful chronicling of the history of what is going on in the world has ever been its aim. It is always welcomed in the household, while in the counting room and workshop it has become

The GAZETTE has better facilities for obtaining news than any paper outside of the national capital. Situated as it is so close to the great centre of news, it enjoys daily the benefit of the Associated Press dispatches from every part of the world; hence its patrons can read from its columns in the evening what has transpired that day in every portion of our own domain as well as from every part of the habitable globe. Consequently it is an every day occurrence for the GAZETTE to publish telegrams from the various European capitals twelve and fifteen hours earlier than the morning pa-

Another feature that serves to make the GAZETTE a great desideratum with mer chants is its afternoon market reports from New York, Baltimore, Chicago and other

The local department furnishes a full and complete history of everything that occurs n and near the city, and this feature will, as ever, receive careful attention.

Correspondence from Washington, Richmond and every section of the State, is published regularly, and all events of interest occurring within the bounds of the Commonwealth are to be found in the columns of the GAZETTE.

The GAZETTE's circulation is steadily in creasing, especially among people who consult its advertising columns before purchasing. That this is self-evident may be inferred from the fact that a large country edition-nearly as large as the daily-is sent all over this section of country three times a week, and is read by thousands, most of whom send here or to contiguous cities to make purchases. The advantages of advertising in the GAZETTE are, therefore, ap-
